Junior Supply Officer Recruitment Initiative

Take your career farther, faster.

MSC is looking for Logistics Majors, at the top of their class, who are aspiring to become Supply Officers. You will be trained to coordinate and execute fleet logistics operations onboard complex platforms providing supplies to USN vessels worldwide.

If you are highly skilled, ready for adventure, and desire to be a vital part of Military Sealift Command, you should consider the Junior Supply Officer Recruitment Initiative for maritime academy students.

To fill this role you must be knowledgeable in large scale logistics operations and fleet operating procedures; you must be prepared for planning, coordinating, loading, and discharging of all types of cargo to meet the MSC mission of underway replenishment and point-to-point cargo movement. In this job, you will also be involved in MSC special missions, such as humanitarian, cable laying, salvage and diving operations, and submarine tender operations.

- As a Junior Supply Officer, you'll stage and prepare for large scale underway replenishment operations, load several million gallons of bulk cargo fuel, and be fully trained in Department of Defense logistics procedures. At the conclusion of the 3-year program you will be given the opportunity to competitively apply for a position as an MSC Supply Officer.
- Supply Officers are Department Heads – responsible for the proper performance and administration of the Supply Department. In this position, you'll manage inventory for all types of materials moving through the vessel; you'll oversee inventory management, food service and ship store operations. And you'll be directly involved in all supply logistics planning for MSC missions worldwide.

JSO Program Requirements
Logistics Degree
US Passport
Transportation Workers Identification Credential
Merchant Mariner Credential

This is an opportunity to do what you've been trained to do – working at sea, on state-of-the-art ships, using the best technology. We're looking for academy students to join our team of civil service mariners (CIVMARs), to complete missions for the U.S. Navy worldwide. This is a federal government job, with full government benefits. Discover more about your place at MSC, visit
